ILO SOUTH-SOUTH AND TRIANGULAR COOPERATION

The ILO through its partnership's department has launched 23 South-South and Triangular Cooperation projects across the five regions and the ITC-Turin office for the 2020-2021 biennium.

The SSTC projects have covered 75 countries and additional global activities. They have promoted peer-learning activities, training and capacity building, personnel exchange, joint research, fellowships and study-tours between countries of the South. They have included Cooperation between Small Islands and Developing States (SIDS-to-SIDS), country-to-country, regional and inter-regional projects.

These projects have touched on a wide range of topics, including employment services, women economic empowerment, employment policies, skills, informality, Occupational Safety and Health (OSH), labour migration, Technical and Vocational Education and Training (TVET), sustainable tourism, and Disaster Risk Reduction, among others. All projects were associated with policy outcomes in accordance with the ILO's strategic framework 2020-2021.

The projects have been adapted to the current COVID-19 crisis both in format and content. They included strong and innovative virtual components such as online platforms for exchange, virtual meetings and training. Moreover, they were adapted to address the impacts of COVID-19 on workers, particularly the most vulnerable or those who were hit the hardest, as well as post-COVID recovery strategies towards a better normal through decent work.

LATIN AMERICA AND THE CARIBBEAN

SSTC CAPACITY-BUILDING FOR DELIVERING SDGs

The ILO has provided guidance, awareness-raising and training to equip technical teams and constituents on how to align their priorities to the SDGs. Participants from Argentina, Peru, Colombia, Uruguay, Paraguay, Guatemala, Mexico, Cuba, El Salvador, and Costa Rica have taken part in peer-learning seminars on how to engage with and influence the national processes related to the implementation of the 2030 Agenda.
